REFLECTIONS

Some mornings you wake up looking disasterous. After a morning makeover and a quick breakfast of Captain Crunch, you race to school, greet your longtime friends, and dodge the people in the hallways between classes! And the classes! Mr. Kelly's dissection of squid, Mrs. Green's $E=MC^2$, Mr. Charlton's booming questions; all of these things are just the beginning of a new day and a new life. Throughout your life you will have decisions to make and a hectic schedule to meet. There will be more opportunities to further your education. As you learn the ropes of a new job, struggle to make your paycheck last until the end of the week, get married and raise a family, you will reflect back to your school days. When homework was squished somewhere between your overactive social life and semi-active homelife.

Somehow we all make it through. We realize the little lessons we learned were worth the pain and the knowledge we gained is invaluable to us. Each year our expectations of ourselves grow, we become more independant and responsible, and eventually we are out on our own. We are ready to start a new life, just as we started a new day.

Reflecting the past . . .
anticipating the future.

of a new beginning . . .

Boredom

Have you ever experienced one of those days when it took all of your energy just to keep your eyes open? Or how about catching your head as it was falling to the desk? Many of us have had at least one of those days.

What is your definition of boredom?

This question was asked to several students and here are some of their definitions

"A persons' inability to entertain themselves,"

Judy Rankin

"English,"

Chris Klenke

"Being the only person standing still through the entire marching band routine,"

Tonia Brakensiek

"Sitting through classes in which you don't understand what is going on,"

Trisa Burgess

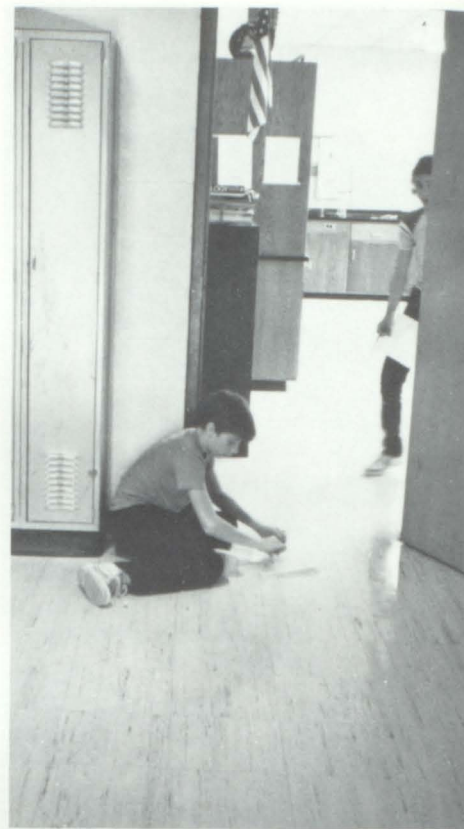

"Not having fun,"

Trae Ruge

"Having nothing to do over the weekends,"

Paula Day

And you thought you were the only person to have a boring day . . . well take a look at what we have captured on film.

"I will not chew gum; I will not chew gum," pleaded James Thompson. (right)

"In my sixth hour civics class, government just thrills me," commented Kim Middleton. (right)

"I was so enthused about my homework; I just had to take a break," exclaimed Paula Hunt. (left)

"Just another boring Monday after one of my wild weekends," said Greg Richardson.

— Most Embarrassing Moments —

Some days there are some things we would rather forget, but it seems there is always someone around to remind us of those embarrassing moments.

Wes Trimborn describes his most embarrassing moment this way, "I was in gym class, jumping the long jump and my shorts ripped. They fell down around my knees and it looked like a mini skirt."

Pam Lindsey's most embarrassing situation was being on Miss Lyle's pom pom squad in Junior High.

David Heiliger's most embarrassing moment was so embarrassing that all he could say was, "I'm sorry Jill."

Ed, our honorable custodian, caught in an embarrassing situation.

Danny Halcomb and Lisa Stevens embarrassed to be seen at the local hangout eating so much.

Wouldn't you be embarrassed too!!!?

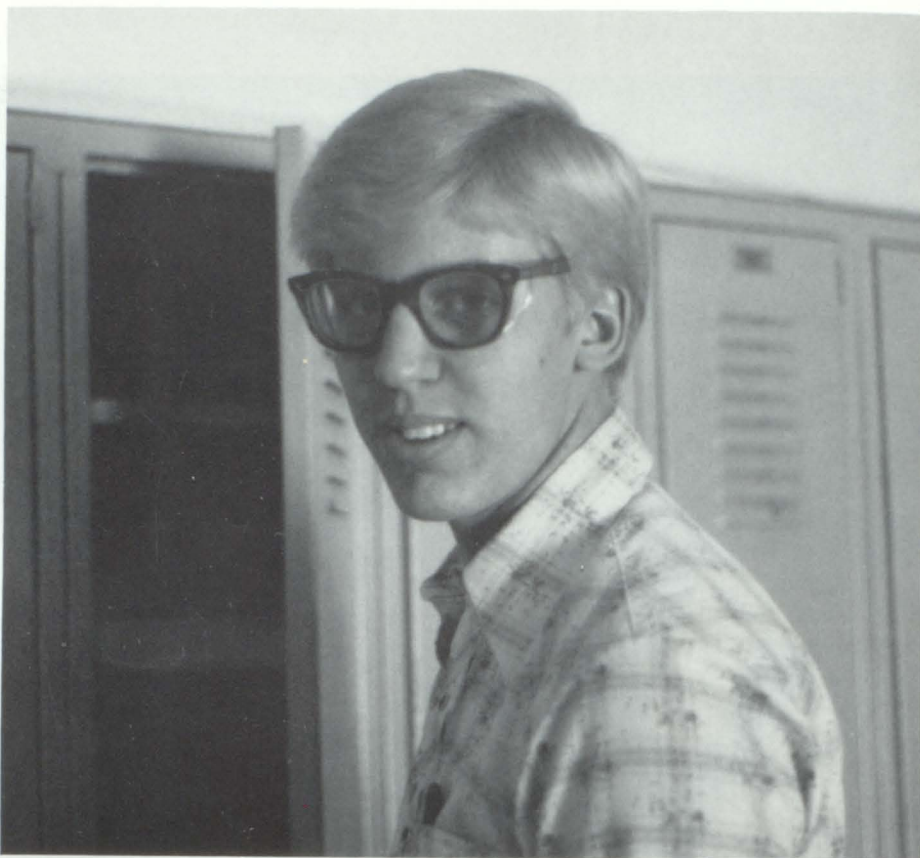

Kim Milliner zipping up her pants after forgetting to in the locker room.

Wes Trimborn explains his embarrassing situation to his mom. "I've really done it this time!"

Favorite Sayings

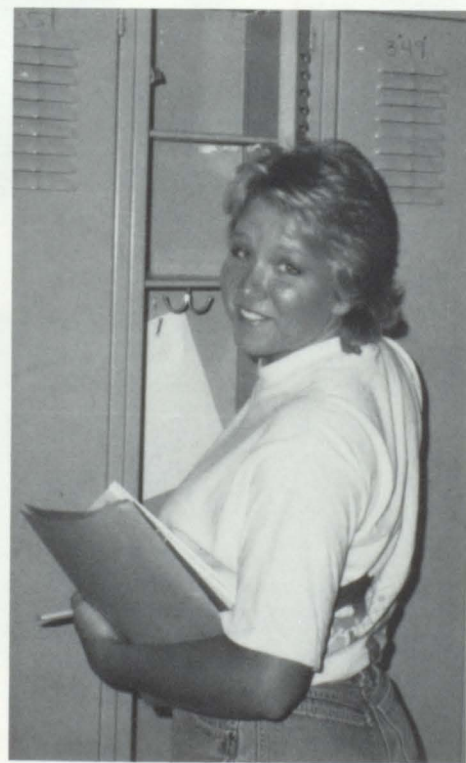

This year the students at W.C.H.S. started classes on August 27, 1984. The first few days were rather hectic, but after, the first week people started back into the routine of things. They began hanging around old friends and meeting new. Since students are around people they feel comfortable with they start back to their old habits. At this time they start developing their favorite sayings. This year the yearbook staff asked several students "What are your favorite sayings?" On this page and the next are some favorite sayings by our students at W.C.H.S. The following are some comments we received: "If you don't want to know, don't ask" (Mr. Jones, Principal), "Think it over" (Mrs. Jastrem, counselor), "What the Heck" (Joe Judd, 12), "What a trip" (Wesley Trimborn, 11), "Hey, Dude" (Joe Kitchen, 10), "Let's Party" (Vickie Smith, 9). We know that everyone has at least one saying, but doesn't always realize it. We hope that everyone will always remember their saying as part of their school years.

Tonia Brakensiek gives Mr. Blackmore his daily harassment. (RIGHT).

"Oops! I left my important books at home," said Shanana Bartold. (FAR RIGHT).

"Wait a minute! I'm busy," jokes Mr. Cheeseman (LEFT).

"There he is . . . Aaron Cronk," giggles Lori Heileger.

"Jerry! Everybody's watching us," warns an embarrassed Carma Carter. "What the ?/!/? is going on?" wonders Donnie Meyers (BELOW).

Cars

"I love my truck!" states Joe Judd.

"Looks like a classic car to me," announces Dale Kelly.

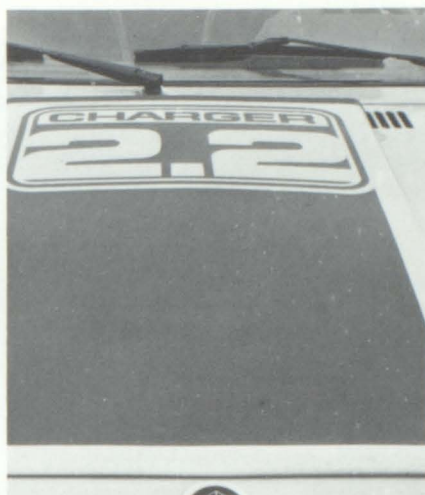

"That is my truck," Gene Rugh replies.

"They stop here," announces Mrs. Green (UPPER LEFT).
 "The #?!?/ won't start!" grumbles Tony Millikan (UPPER RIGHT).
 "A work of art!" proclaims Rodney Cohen (ABOVE).

In Style

"It looks cleaner than usual," exclaims Mrs. Schelman, English teacher.

As people are different, so are the cars they drive. Cars have always played a vital role in our society as a means of transportation, a status symbol or an expression of our individuality.

Evidence of this is seen at the WCHS parking lot. Everyday a person can see a vast array of different cars and trucks ... some clean and shiny, others dull and dirty, some have Cragars while others have louvres. There are all the classic makes and models- Chevy, Ford, Chrysler, Dodge ... even a few foreign models ... about as many different kinds of cars as there are students ... as you can see.

Interesting Days

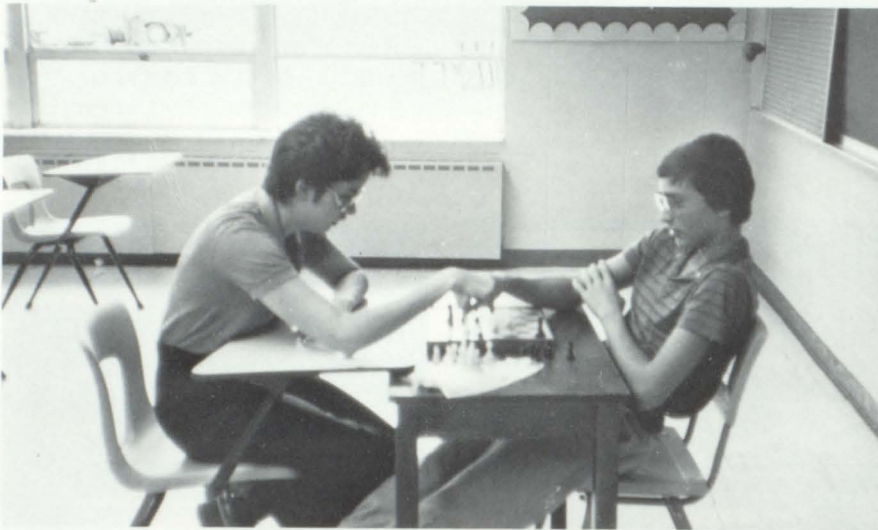

Little things happen at school or during after school social hours that you will remember for the rest of your life. The personality quirks of all your classmates and the wild high tops your best friend wore will all be treasured memories in the future.

What makes for interesting days now and interesting memories in the future?

Remember Sharon Fincher laughing? Mr. Leara standing on his head? Pep Rallies? Karen Everman's cat screeches? Billy Idol? Mr. Harrison's jokes? Amy Hill's neon socks? Homecoming? Yearbook deadlines? Jeff North's complaints? Purple Rain? Friday night parties? Garnett's lunches? Timmy McDaniel's "metal" health? Jon Godt's hair? Spirit week? Parachute pants? Student Council meetings? The jocks? Motley Crue? Back-to-school dance? Casey Cohen's head? Mrs. Deubel's piggy slippers? Senior skip day? Marlo's piano playing? The parties? Prom? Andy Ordelheide's broken window? Boy George? Passing your driving test? Basketball games against Warrenton? Major makeouts in the junior hallway? Flexible library hours? Mr. Cheeseman's "fun" sketchbooks? Getting measured for caps and gowns? Spring fever? Marching Band practice? Saturday night dates? Going steady? Flunking biology? Getting your '85 yearbook?!!?

Juniors

School is like a dream, at times it is a mind boggling situation, it seems to move slow, but yet it is all over in a flash. We never seem to take out enough time to consider what it really means, until it is over and is in the past. The Junior year seems to be the roughest, sometimes it is a never ending nightmare, but just like all things in life we make it through all right. Mrs. Spoede and Miss Brown, the Junior class sponsors, along with the entire Junior class, put forth a great effort to help make the 1984-85 school year their 'Most Unforgettable'. The Junior class is the host of the Junior-Senior Prom, which is a very big responsibility. Much time and energy is put into the Prom to help make it a very special night for everyone. Also during your Junior year you realize that you need to order your class rings, which infers that your High School years will be in the past and will be only memories, after one more year!

Sophomores

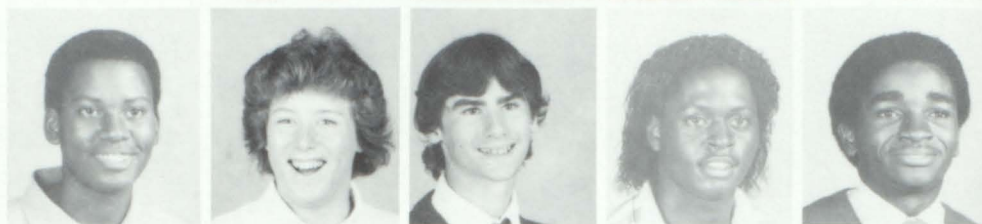

Sophomores Discover Silly Times

"It's neat being a sophomore, but I'd rather be a senior," said Lisa Brown, a 1984-85 sophomore. Although the sophomore year may not be as exciting as the senior year, it does contain the thrilling memories of turning sixteen, getting your license, and also being allowed to go out on dates. It is a fun year of discovery and silly times with friends.

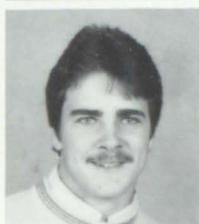

"This year I got to do more stuff with my friends, but I also had more responsibilities at home, and more homework," said Jeff Avery.

Being a sophomore means being in the middle of everything. Sophomores use the excuse when in trouble, "I'm only 16." When they want to do something that their parents do not approve of they use the excuse, "Don't treat me like a baby. I am 16."

The sophomore class contains many outstanding individuals and yet they are able to work together as a group. They have accomplished much and are on the way to accomplish the ultimate goal of graduating.

Freshmen

Freshmen Move Up To The "Big Time"

The Freshman class last year was a very spirited group. The class as a whole, executed their school spirit in many ways. From decorating the halls at homecoming to the Halloween dance, to winning the Spirit Trophy, the ninth graders made their presence known.

It took eight years, but the class of '88 made it to a legal high school standing. It is a special time when you step up into high school. There are more responsibilities, but also more privileges. You are allowed to go to high school dances, pep rallies, and participate in more sports, that as junior high students you were not allowed.

The sponsors for the freshman class were Mrs. Wobbe and Mrs. Schellman. Mrs. Wobbe said, "They have really good ideas." "Once they get their stuff going they really do a good job," commented Mrs. Schellman. These statements say a lot about the freshman class.

The class officers for the '84-'85 school year were: Robyn Lewis, president; Vickie Smith, vice-president; Lee English, treasurer; Lyn Key, secretary; Vicki Ball, parliamentarian.

"It's been a great year. The thing I like most is the people. All the people here are really special. They care!" commented Lyn Key. "It's not like it was in eighth grade. Everybody has grown up. We've all grown away from each other but together in ways," said Vicki Smith.

The freshman class showed great spirit last year. Hopefully they keep it with them until they graduate in '88.

Eighth Grade Works Toward Promotion

Eighth grade is a year of transition, students learn how to accept more responsibility in school and out of school.

The eighth grade class was a very organized class. They seemed to get things done when they really put their minds to it. The eighth graders worked hard to make their promotion at the end of the year a very special time.

Eighth grade is a special grade because you are the top class in Junior High. But, once you graduate Junior High School and move into ninth grade it is like starting from the beginning.

"I'm very excited about going into high school. Junior High was fun, but I'm ready to start getting serious and accepting more responsibility," commented Paula Hunt.

"I will be glad to get to ninth grade. Our class can start showing our spirit and take part in high school activities. If we are given the chance we can prove it to everyone. The eighth grade class can now start looking ahead," said Kelly Blanchard.

The eighth grade sponsors were Mrs. Vogt and Mrs. Turner. They expressed, "We think this class is a nice class to sponsor since it is our first year here at Wright City teaching."

Seventh Grade Faces New Atmosphere

The Class of "90" entered the doors of Junior High School with a lot of uneasiness. But they soon adjusted to the new experience and were participating in Junior High Student Council, dances, and sports.

Being in Seventh grade is an interesting experience for the people in Wright City Junior High. Students are expected to do more than when in elementary school. From having six classes a day to more homework.

This years class officers are: President: Jill Sherman, Vice-President: Shelly Schubert, Secretary: Shari Kohr, Treasurer: Holly Williams, and Sargeant-at-Arms: Sandy Tinsley.

"I like the seventh grade because the day go by faster and the classes are not boring," commented seventh grade, Carol Mikus.

"The seventh grade class has been a very social and enjoyable class to sponsor", commented Mrs. ZutterBrock, seventh grade class sponsor.

NEW ADMINISTRATION DEALS WITH OLD PROBLEMS

To the students ears, these seem to be the only comments heard from administrators: "Skipping school is a felony against the disciplinary program." "Fighting will result in suspensions." "You know smoking is against school rules."

Contrary to belief, "disciplining students is the least liked job as an administrator," commented

Donald Jones, Principal. Mr. Jones expressed that he would rather spend more time with the students in improving their education and advancing their curriculum.

This year, two new administrators joined the staff. Dr. Sheila Cone, Superintendent, and Mr. Berry, Assistant Superintendent. The administration is doing a great job, which only proves how much they care.

To be a teacher takes a lot of patience and care. These ingredients seem to be in the blood of our faculty this year, as they not only teach students, but also help us when we are in need.

STAFF WORKS

Ed Bohler is showing the trashy side of janitorial work

Custodians, Ed and Jack are their names, keeping the school clean is the name of their game. Day in and day out, room after room, is the usual route, for them and their broom. Is this a typical day for a janitor at Wright City High School? Probably! The 1984-85 janitors are Ed Bohler and Jack Adams. They can be seen busily walking through the halls getting their job done each day of each week, trying to meet each teacher's demands. The regular school days were not the only days in which the janitors were expected to keep the school in tip top shape. They also come on days in which the students are off for holidays, and teachers meetings. Our janitors cannot only be found cleaning and repairing, but also mingling with students and teachers. They have always been there when you need that 'Quick Fix'. What would we do if the janitors were not so reliable!

Jack Adams feeling poorly after the first morning bell.

When 6:00 in the morning rolls around several citizens, and teachers wake up to begin a fresh day of school. They begin by picking Wright City students up from their homes in a big, yellow, monstrous vehicle called a 'Bus'. The 1984-85 busdrivers were Dan Charlton, Dorothy Key, Pat Brockmeir, Lee Jaeger, Ivan Paul, Cheryl Rolfsmeyer, Homer Hite, Georgia Koster, Dave Cook, Dale Kelly, Wayne and Sue Pitchford. These special and helpful people also return each student home safe and sound every school day.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Garnett Zuhone's job is not only being the 'Main Chef', but also involves bookwork!

At 10:00 a.m., Garnett Zuhone, Gladys Eversmeyer, Agnes Martin, Jenny Love, and Judy Lucas begin to break for preparing the day's lunch for 376 students here at Wright City. They prepare for three separate shifts of stomach starving students; including the early shift of Vo-Tech. Each of the cooks have their own little job. Garnett Zuhone has the 'Little' job of being the 'Main Chef'. She really catches everyone's eye and fills everyone's stomach with the "Rabbit Nibbling" salad bar. Unfortunately this is Garnett's last year here. She will always be here with us in memories! We will miss you!

"Why does everyone always take my picture with my mouth open?" states Billie Arnett.

"This typewriter never does spell right, no matter what buttons I push!" exclaims Lila Brandes.

Lila Brandes and Billie Arnett sit patiently behind their desks each day as the happy secretaries at Wright City. The day's agenda usually begins with series of telephone calls, which requires answering and taking messages. The students keep Lila and Billie busy with all the questions and favors. They perform many more and important jobs too numerous to mention. They do, however, make the day go so much smoother with all the helpful hints, favors, and smiles!

Organizations

CHORUS UNDER NEW DIRECTION

The Mixed Chorus is composed of both the junior and senior high students.

On December 17th, both the Mixed Chorus and the Wright City Singers performed together at the Christmas Concert. They performed nine songs from the music "Come and Celebrate," which told a Christmas story. Steven Sutter, Joe Bieber, and Kim Meyers each sang a solo at the concert.

"The group has a lot of potential and when we put forth a good effort, nice effects are produced," said Judy Rankin.

"It is very fun and interesting. We have the opportunity to go many places and meet people," said Shelley Johnson.

"Mrs. Albers is really sweet and I have met a lot of neat people," said Tammy Nelson.

SINGERS DANCE HEARTS OUT

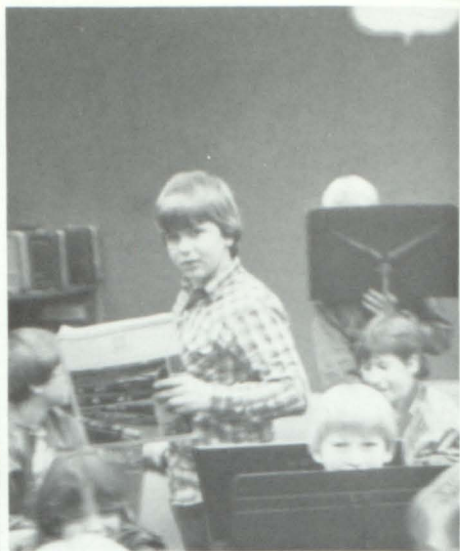

The 1984-85 Wright City Singers is under the direction of Mrs. Albers.

They began performing in November and performed six times by the end of December. They sang at the senior citizens Christmas party which took place at the Wright City Lions Club and did two performances at Big Boy's.

Along with the singing, there is some choreography added to make the group of singers more entertaining. "Elizabeth Dougherty was a real asset in this area, although there have been others that have contributed with their ideas," said Mrs. Albers.

Mrs. Albers went on to comment: "I enjoyed working with this age group. These students really have potential to continue to grow as musicians and as people. Some have begun to do things they didn't think they could have done. It is a pleasure to be a part of their development as students."

PEP CLUB GOES WILD FOR CATS

"Boy are we enthusiastic! We are feeling G-O-O-D!"

This cheer was just one of many the Pep Club cheered and chanted in the gym throughout the season.

The 84-85 Pep Club was a spirited group not to be soon forgotten. They worked on building a foundation for next years Pep Club to grow on. The club was one of the more active organizations in the school. Their float won first place in the Homecoming Parade. Throughout the season they sold hot pretzels at the games, and gold armbands were worn by the members to display their spirit.

The major accomplishment of the year was the continuing support of the Wildcat teams and the sponsoring of a dance. Motivating students to become more active in school activities was a major goal along with encouraging fans to support all sports in our school.

"Pep Club was really Great this year. I loved working with everyone and hope next year is even better," said Kim Milliner, president of Pep Club.

They also purchased favors and sponsored a group to entertain fifty senior citizens at their annual Christmas party. Other activities included selling Santa-Grams and holding a bake sale.

Mrs. Jastrem, one sponser of the group said, "Because this particular group was so supportive of their planned activities we were able to do so much."

The members are chosen by possessing the qualities of leadership, scholarship, service, citizenship, and character.

There were thirteen members in NHS. Wayne Johnson was the president. John Nadler was vice president, Judy Rankin was secretary/treasurer, and Tom Nailor was Student Council Representative. Mrs. Jastrem and Mrs. Green were the sponsors.

"I think the bookstore this year has given NHS a reputation that won't be soon forgotten and hopefully provide an incentive for future members to build on," said Wayne Johnson, President.

TS A NEW BEGINNING

This years mass media staff started out fresh. Room 13 had not only acquired a new teacher with many bright ideas, but also an enthusiastic and young staff.

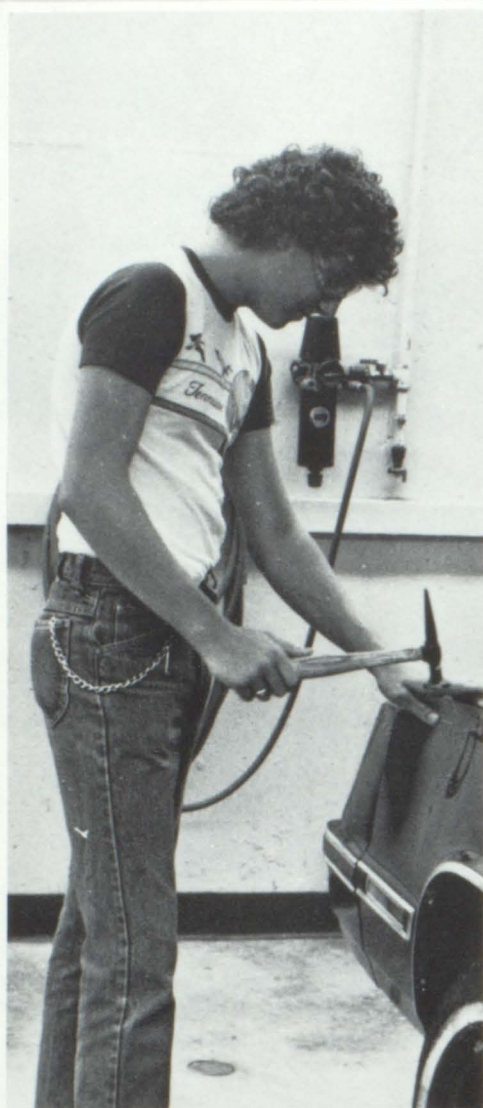

The staff had many goals to achieve. The first and one of the most important was their first deadline. Everyone worked hard and it was accomplished with a shout of joy. It would take much time, effort, and money to put out a good yearbook and newspaper, so the staff started out early. While the rest of the school was still on vacation, the staff started raising money by selling ads the last part of August. Wildcat jerseys were sold at Homecoming also.

There were only 2 returning staff members, the rest had a lot of learning to do. Because of this the staff felt it would be a year of change and hard work. Andrea Avery, yearbook editor, agrees "We had our work cut out for us. With a rookie staff and high expectations, we accomplished almost everything we set out to do."

The staff this year did a wonderful job. Things were done and the staff worked well together. "We had a fantastic staff with a fantastic year," said Mrs. Deubel, yearbook advisor.

Dale Unnerstall commented "It is alot of fun going to Vo-Tech, I like to work on the cars."

"I enjoy going to Vo-Tech. I think I have learned and accomplished a lot." Stated Anthony Eads.

Student Council consists of students who are outgoing and want to help other students become active in school. This organization provides entertainment and activities for the students. The Back to School Dance, Christmas Dancé, Halloween Dance, Dress Up Day, and the Bar-B-Q were some of the successful activities held. In addition to the dances, several Pep Rallys were held. Remember the exciting snake Pep Rally? Several students will never forget this experience as they got hands on experience by holding a real live snake!

Student Council President Wayne Johnson commented he felt the goals they had set were accomplished with the help of the determined students in Student Council. The executive officers for the 1984-1985 school year were: President: Wayne Johnson, Vice-President: Tonia Brakensiek, Secretary: Shannan Bartold, and Treasurer: John Nadler.

JR. HIGH STUCO JUMPS AHEAD

The Junior High student council had an active part in the 84-85 school year. From exciting elections of officers to the Christmas toy drive, Junior High students became involved in many activities. "We were pleased with the activities we have sponsored this year, we felt the students and the council members worked hard," commented Mrs. Turner, new teacher at the school and sponser for the seventh and eighth grade student body. She also stated, "We tried to plan the activities as a service and a source of fun for the students."

A 100% Club was organized by council president Sheila Wright. A party was thrown for students turning in 100% of their homework in every class.

The 84-85 officers were Sheila Wright-president, Chris Klenke-vice-president, Kim Johnson - secretary, Jennifer Garner-Treasurer, and Scott Boschert-Sergent at Arms.

"I think student council is fun and it's a very good experience. Being the president is sometimes hard and frustrating and it's hard to please everyone. This year, I think all of our projects have gone well especially the Toy Drive. I hope all our future projects turn out as well," shared president Sheila Wright. Chris Klenke, vice-president, commented, "I think it is great, I like helping people. It's good for anybody, I'd like to be in it next year."

Being chosen as a cheerleader is a great privilege to any girl, especially in Junior High. In Junior High there are more choices and decisions to make. Cheerleading is a big responsibility, also, it takes a lot of practice and hard work to be a good cheerleader.

After taking over the responsibility of being a sponsor for the girls at the last minute, Mrs. Beste worked wonders with the new squad. The squad consisted of nine girls, with three being alternates. The girls had a good season, a result of always being present at all practices and working very hard. Mrs. Beste commented, "I think they were one of the best Jr. High groups we've had."

Sheila Wright, an eighth grader, made captain of the squad and Holly Williams, a seventh grader, made co-captain.

Other cheerleaders were Peggy Fuchs, Jennifer Garner, Jennifer McDaniel, Gina Blanks, Tammy Nelson, Shannon Faulkner, and Julie Brunkhorst. "They were a fun group to work with," Mrs. Beste also stated. "I think it's a good experience and it gives you a chance to get into the school spirit," shared Jennifer Garner. "It's a privilege it's real fun," stated Holly Williams, co-captain of the squad. "It's fun and I'm glad I made it," commented Julie Brunkhorst.

ROCK TO THE BEAT

This spirited group had a spectacular take off this year while attending a summer camp. The squad captured a first place trophy in the varsity division. Five girls participated in this, they were: Julie Vance, Kim Abrolat, Tammy Pauk, Tonia Brakensiek, and Kristin Ruge.

As the season progressed so did the cheerleaders. The group tried many different mounts and new cheers. They hoped to accomplish a lot to get the crowd involved.

This year the squad had a new sponsor who helped the girls and had new suggestions. Her name was Sandy Phiro-polous and it was her first year as sponsor. The general consensus was that she had done a fine job. Keep up the excellent work cheerleaders and sponsor.

SPIKES INTO A NEW SEASON

J.V. volleyball season started early in July before Wright City High School students began school in September. Kim Shaffer, Sandy Koster, and Paula Day, attended East Central Volleyball Camp the last part of July. Two weeks before school started each member practiced volleyball, several hours a day. This dedication and hard work helped to develop a spirit of comradery. Even though the season did not go as well as expected, each player gave their all.

"I was really pleased with the team because we had little experience on the squad. I had hoped that the season would have improved during the year, but it didn't. I feel that they will help out the varsity squad in the future." commented Sharon Spoeede.

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL

The Volleyball team, as usual, starts two weeks before school. Each member has to have at least 15 days of practice before they are qualified to play.

Varsity had a fairly good season. Their record was 3-11. Their coach, Mrs. Spoede commented about the season, "The team had a lot of potential, but the potential, only showed on a few occasions. I feel we could of easily won three or four more games through the season. I was pleased with the way the team looked while playing teams that were more experienced then we were."

Jill Dunlap commented "I really like playing volleyball. The varsity players really played well together, we would always help each other out."

"I really enjoyed playing volleyball. I'm going to miss playing," stated Lori Heiliger.

The Girls Junior Varsity Basketball team had a very successful 84-85 season. The team took second place in the Warrenton Tournament. After the tournament the team continued to dominate, but their seven game winning streak was stopped by the strong Washington Blue Jays.

Coach Sue Wright commented, "We had a very productive season. Our Junior Varsity program is our building block for the future. The girls worked hard during the season and were successful in improving their shooting skills and basic fundamentals."

A 12 and 16 record shows that this young team definitely has the potential to go far.

Coach Wright continued, "As freshmen and sophomores, they still have a long road in front of them. The future looks bright, but only with hard work, dedication, and a goal to strive for the best."

Every team has areas that could be worked on, fortunately this is not the case with Wright City. Miss Wright stated, "The key to a successful offense is a good defense. If a team plays good defense and keeps their opponents from scoring, then they get the ball and the opportunity to score. We need to work harder on defense skills and in time we will improve."

Amy Hill led the team in total points with 155 during the season, followed by Lori Welge with 137. Lori Welge also led in rebounds with a staggering 134.

The Wright City Junior Varsity Basketball team was coached by Mr. Dale Kelly. The Junior Varsity is a team formed for boys to learn the skills, meaning, and ups and downs of basketball. It helps prepare young upcoming athletes for the varsity team. Coach Kelly commented about the 1984-85 season, "The Junior Varsity players and freshmen we had were a good bunch of young men to work with. These guys worked very hard and every one of them improved over the year. I felt that the season was very successful and hope their progress continues!" Loren Stevens, sophomore player commented, "We did not play consistently, we played well at times, but not enough to win more games. Everybody did work hard and I saw a great improvement in the freshmen!" "We had a lot of improvements to make, especially shots under the basket and rebounding shots. But we did finally improve!" commented freshman player, Shawn Paul. Jeff Avery summed it up stating, "JV is okay, but I can't wait until next year to play Varsity ball!"

VARSITY SHOOTS FOR A WINNING SEASON

On October 29th, the Varsity Wildcats began to practice for their 1984-85 upcoming season.

The Wildcats played teams such as the Silix Owls, Fort Zumwalt Panthers, and our long time rival- the Warrenton Warriors.

Practices for the Varsity Wildcats began at 2:30 and ended at 4:30. Some of the players commented on the practices: "They are very strenuous," said Jeff Bradshaw. "They are tough, but they have to be that way to improve," replied Danny Halcomb. "They take a lot of hard work," said Donald Jones.

When asked, "What is the best thing about being on the team?" some of the players replied: "Being able to play with such a good basketball program," said Jeff North.

"Winning as a group and not as an individual," said Andrew Marley.

How do you feel right before a game? "Excited! I am always thinking about the game and ready to play," said Tom Nailor. "My very first Varsity game that I ever played I was very nervous, but now I just feel the excitement of the upcoming game," said Joe Pauk.

"Hopefully the season was a rewarding experience for our players. The seniors should feel accomplishment for carrying on our fine tradition, and the underclassmen should be pleased about their contributions," commented Coach Gerdeman.

The Wildcats ended their season with a 15 win - 11 loss record.

GIRLS VARSITY JUMPS FOR THE HOOP

The 1984-85 Varsity girls basketball team seemed to have all the right ingredients of a spirited team, with the combination of diligence, experience, and team work. The end result was a 10 win and 15 loss season and a feeling of great accomplishment. Suzanne Sears, sophomore, agrees, "This year we improved more and I am very happy with our record."

Practice for the lady Wildcats began at 7:30 in the morning and continued through first hour. During these early morning practices, many skills were improved upon and strategies set up for the next game. While the girls enjoy playing basketball, the practices are something that are not looked upon with great anticipation as Michelle Hartnagel agrees, "I enjoyed participating on the team but the early morning practices I could do without." The girls participated in two tournaments this year aside from Districts. They placed fourth in the Wright City Tournament out of eight teams. Coach Sue Wright gave this comment on the past season. "The 1984-1985 season was very productive in many aspects of the game of basketball. The girls worked hard and it showed in their overall performance. The seniors (Sandy, Barb, Gwen) will be missed. They played an integral part in the success of the season. They worked hard all season. They were leaders that guided the younger players in their improvement of the game. Those that will be returning have also worked hard to improve the skills and knowledge of the game. The future looks bright for the W.C. girls basketball team."

The Junior high girls basketball team ended an exciting season with a 10 win 3 loss record. Gina Blanks was the team's leading scorer, she compiled a total of 161 points for the season.

"Great leadership was provided by the teams two eighth graders, Gina Blanks and Suzie McBride. The ten seventh graders on the team progressed rapidly this year, they showed great promise for 1985-86," commented Miss Dodd, Coach.

BOUNCE OUT THE BASICS

Seventh Grade Boys

The boys that played on the team this year really played good for their first year. "This team has a lot of potential and talent. They worked hard and worked real well together. They have very bright futures ahead of them. I also think that working together like they did really helped them develop a mature attitude of cooperation as a team."

Eighth Grade Boys

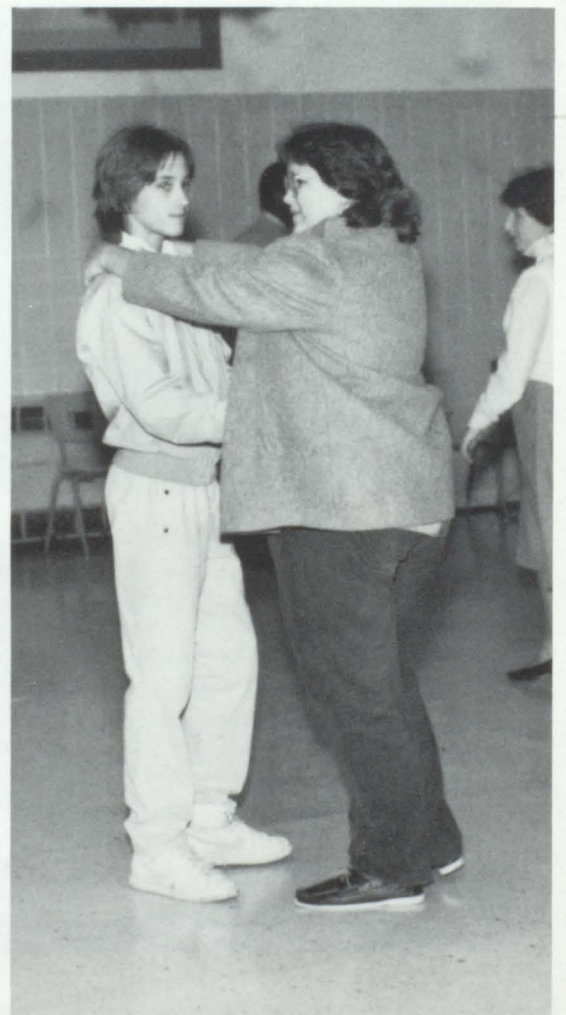

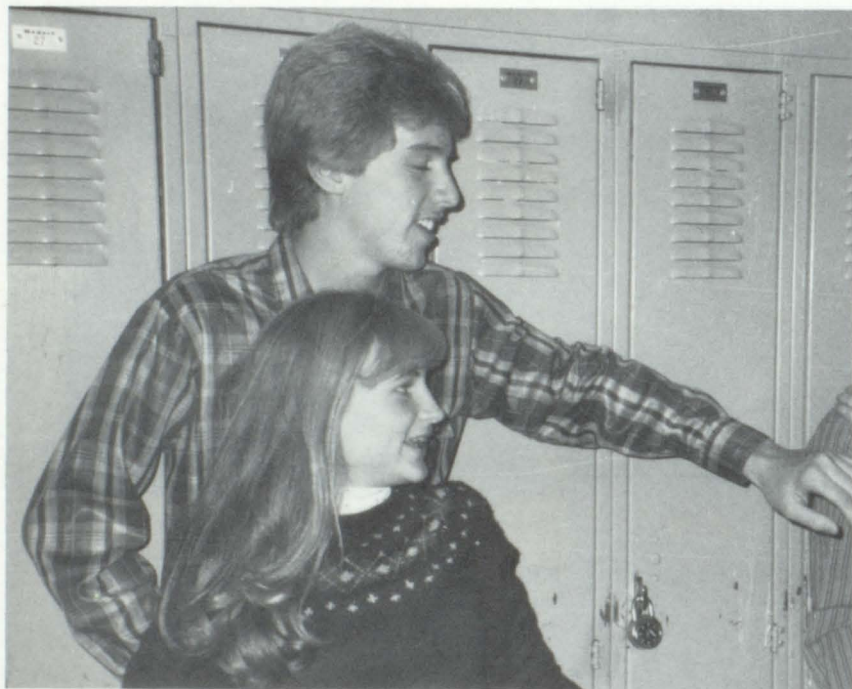

The eighth grade boys have had a good year. Their season began with a bang. "This team has gone further than they ever have. They have played better this year than they have ever played. The boys worked hard and I think that it all paid off in the end," commented Coach Reinitz.

Events

BACK WITH THE BEAT

Students at WCHS danced back to the beat of a new school year at the Back to School Dance sponsored by Student Council. The decorations were simple, consisting of a banner, balloons, and streamers. Trae Ruge and Jonathon Godt turned the records for the evening, with popular tunes such as Billy Idol, Madonna, and Chicago.

An average crowd of students participated in this event, with all going home leaving a pleasant and enjoy enjoyable evening behind.

Carol Mikus and Debbie Unnerstall take a break from dancing.

Jeff North snaps his fingers to the beat of the music.

HALLOWEEN DANCE

Students at Wright City High were anxiously discussing what costumes they would wear as the annual Halloween Dance approached. Contemplating their costumes paid off, as interesting creatures, human horses, French maids, and a male cheerleader portraying a female showed up at the dance.

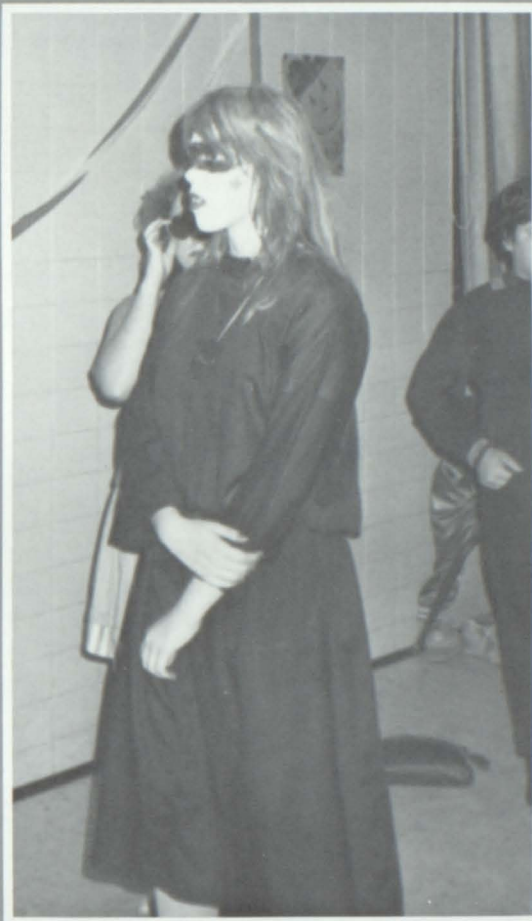

The dance was held in the cafeteria with the music beginning at 8:00 p.m. Donny Bishop was the D.J. for the evening. The incoming Freshman sponsors this dance annually. It turned out to be a success and it was a great way for the freshman to settle in as high school students.

BARNWARMING HOE-DOWN

Straw was flying everywhere and everyone was having a hee haw of a time at the Barnwarming dance held in November. Jonathan Godt, disc jockey, played tunes that satisfied the dancing crowd. The 1984-85 queen winner was Michelle Grooms. Mark Graviett was her escort. "I thought it was just great that one of my best friends and I could run for Barnwarming in our Senior year and win," said Michelle. The dance was held from 8-11p.m. in the high school cafeteria which was decorated by several FFA members. This organization also sponsored the dance.

CHRISTMAS DANCE CELEBRATES HOLLY-DAYS

The Christmas dance, which was sponsored by Student Council, was held December 21 from 8 to 11 p.m. in the elementary gym. A new disc jockey, Powerhouse, helped Wright City students to celebrate the holiday season. "The dance had a great turnout," commented Mr. Jones, principal, "Everyone got along and I believe it was the best dance of the year." Robyn Lewis added, "It was a great dance and the best one all year. I really loved the decorations, especially the snowmen!" The gym was decorated by Tina Hunt and other members of Student Council. Senior, Elizabeth Dougherty and Freshman, Pat Middleton were crowned queen and king of the dance. Others running for the title were Juniors, Russell Schindler and Kim Shaffer, Sophomores, Lori Welge and Danny Halcomb, Senior Tony Milikan, and Freshman, Lyn Key.

HOMECOMING

Tension and excitement rose as everyone crowded into the gym. Homecoming night had finally begun, after weeks of preparation and practice. Memories filled the high spirited air as Alumni and students mingled feverishly before the game. One by one Alumni girls and the Girls Varsity Basketball team stampeded onto the courts as Alumni battled for the win. Thrills began as everyone became quiet when President of StuCo, Wayne Johnson, announced the winners of Spirit Week and the Homecoming floats. Then Dr. Sheila Cone took the floor to introduce the 1984 Queen attendants, candidates and escorts. They were, Freshmen: Corinna Fincher and Shawn Paul; Sophomores: Michelle Sylvester and Loren Stevens; Juniors: Carma Carter and Daren Presley; Melissa Boyd and Jeff North; Seniors: Kim Abrolat and Tom Nailor; Judy Rankin and Andy Ordelleide; Kim Abrolat and Tom Nailor. Retiring Queen and escort Andrea Avery and Trae Ruge crowned the 1984 Queen, Melissa Boyd and escort Jeff North. Excitement was still filling the air when both the Wright City Wildcats and the Alumni raced to the courts. The Wright City Wildcats pawed on the Alumni for the win! How was that for a Homecoming?!

THE DANCE . . .

The strobe light was flashing to the beat of the music as both the students and the Alumni walked into the Homecoming Dance. Smoke clouds filled the air, and bubbles, made from a machine, drifted slowly down to the floor below.

Quadrasonic, the D.J. for the dance from Columbia, electrified the students as they danced energetically to the beat of the top tunes. Such as: Billy Idol, Chicago, Survivor, and Madonna.

The '84 WCHS Homecoming Dance started immediately after the varsity basketball game and sadly ended at 12:30. When the end of the dance arrived, everyone was exhausted and glad to be a part of the fantastic and successful '84 Homecoming Dance.

"It was a spectacular dance with an awesome D.J. and superb decorations," commented Kim Abrolat.

"It was a great dance with the best decorations ever!" exclaimed Tonia Brakensiek.

"It was OTAY!" said Andrew Marley.

"It was very enjoyable and relaxing," remarked Jeff North.

"I had a good time and it was the first time I really had a chance to meet people," replied Michelle Sylvester.

"It was the best dance we have had in a long time. They also played a lot of good music," commented Greg Richardson.

"With the excellent decorations and the great sounding D.J., it provided a fantastic evening for everybody there to enjoy and remember," said Wayne Johnson, StuCo president.

The yearbook staff interviewed an Alumnus who attended the '84 W.C. Homecoming. This statement sums up how our alumni felt.

"I've always liked school dances. Homecoming was my most favorite of all and still is. This was the first homecoming dance that I've been able to attend since I graduated in '82 and I really had a good time. Quadrasonic played lotsa' good music and everyone was breakin' and movin' to the beat. I saw a lot of smiling faces and happy reunions with alumni friends, and to me, that is what the word 'homecoming' means," said Lisa Tribble, '82 Alumnus.

THE FUN.

This years Homecoming theme was "The Spirit of the Games." November nineteenth was nerd day, the first day of Homecoming Week. November twentieth was dress-up day, students and teachers were dressed-up in their best outfits. November twenty-first was blue and gold day, most of the students and faculty dressed-up in school colors. That same day during 6th hour Stu-Co sponsored a pep rally. Stu-Co held a tug-a-war which the seniors won, teachers were second and the freshman were third. Also at the pep rally the freshman won the spirit trophy. November twenty-third the Student Council held a parade at 3:00 p.m.

This year the Pep Club won first place, the Juniors won second and Vo-Tech won third place. The decorating of the halls was won by the Sophomores, Seniors won second, and the Juniors won third place. Overall Homecoming Week was a success.

"Decorating the halls was exciting, and also seeing the other grades creations," commented Trisa Burgess.

"I was glad to see all of the classes participating in spirit week and hope that it will continue in the years to come," commented Greg Guthrie.

How to keep hot and cold in their proper places (and cut your energy bill)

Heat is attracted to coolness, so do things to your home that keep them apart—all year:

Build a wall of insulation:

in attic and walls—with storm doors and windows.

Caulk & Weatherstrip:

to block those bad leaky spots around doors and windows.

Buy efficiency:

in your heating and cooling equipment (like the heat pump).

Maintain efficiency:

with regular equipment service and filter changes.

Isolate little-used rooms:

shut them off when not in use.

Together
we can make energy
more efficient.

UNION ELECTRIC
